Successful Prom Already Predicted By Ticket Demand

Early Reservations Advised,
Since Limited Number
Are Available

The annual Interfraternity Prom at the Shoreham on March 18 is already a success, if demand for tickets is any indication of the support it will receive.

Interfraternity delegates, who are handling the pasteborders for each chapter, report that requests for them have exceeded all expectations, and as only a certain number can be accommodated the social chairman advises that early reservations be made.

The first hour of the prom will be a "cut" affair, but at 11 o'clock the program will commence, and will be strictly adhered to during the remainder of the evening.

The Razzberry—the "gag-rag" of the prom, will appear during intermission. Members of the editorial staff of this publication are reticent concerning its contents, but they state that it will present a new appearance in size and make-up.

Wandering Greeks may still secure tickets from the Bursar's Office if they wish to attend the dance. If the group is large enough a special box will be arranged to accommodate it.

Honor Fraternities Plan Joint Banquet

Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Lambda Delta Will Initiate Twenty
Freshmen

Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary freshman scholastic fraternity and sorority, respectively, will hold a joint initiation banquet Friday, March 4, at the Kennedy-Warren Hotel. President Marvin, Provost Wilbur, and Dean Doyle, honorary members of Phi Eta Sigma, will be guest speakers.

Joseph Danzansky, president of Phi Eta Sigma, will be toastmaster. He will introduce Helen Clark, president of Alpha Lambda Delta, and Mildred Burnham, a past president. Alpha Eta Epsilon, newly formed dramatic fraternity, will furnish the entertainment.

Six freshman women eligible for membership to Alpha Lambda Delta, and fourteen men, the largest group ever eligible since the installation of Phi Eta Sigma in 1929, will be initiated. Membership in both organizations is attained after the first semester or first year at the University if the student has a scholastic average of half A's and half B's.

Economic Question Debated by Women

Team Visits Pittsburgh and Swarthmore to Uphold Socialism

The women's debate team of George Washington University met the University of Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh Friday afternoon and Swarthmore College Saturday afternoon in no-decision contests.

The George Washington team upheld the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, That Socialism is preferable to Capitalism as a system of economic organization." The members of the George Washington team were Clara Critchfield, Louise Feinstein, and Bertha Kauffman.

On March 19 the University of Pittsburgh team is coming here to uphold the affirmative side of the same question.

Women Riflers Complete Opening Stage of Match In Championship Contest

The first stage of the Women's Intercollegiate Team Championship has now been completed by the G. W. team, leaving two more stages to be shot. The women shoot in each of the three stages and the five highest scores of each stage are counted in determining the winning team.

It is possible for a person to make 200 points in a stage. The five high scores for the first stage will be chosen from the following:

White, Grace 196 Kerr, Evelyn 194 Johnson, Emma 197 Selbert, Caroline 194 Dillman, Virginia 196 White, Ruth 194 Corcoran, Lola 194

Five of the above scores will give a total of 979 for G. W.'s first stage. It is difficult to say which two of the 194's will be counted so all four of them have been listed.

Cherry Tree Subscriptions Required In Advance; May Be Submitted Now

March 6 Final Date for Receiving Copy; Work Progressing
Rapidly on Laying Out Most Artistic Book Presented in Many Years

Subscriptions for the Bicentennial Memorial Edition of the 1932 Cherry Tree are now being received by the Business Manager. It is absolutely necessary for those desiring to obtain a copy of this annual to subscribe in advance, as only a sufficient number of books will be ordered to take care of the advance sales. The price of the book is four dollars, which must accompany the subscription.

Work is progressing very rapidly in laying out the book, and it is absolutely necessary for all copy to be in the hands of editors by March 6 in order to appear in this edition.

The current annual, featuring the largest collection of senior and organization photographs in the history of the publication, art work excellently done by students in the Division of Fine Arts under the direct supervision of Professors Crandall and Davis, is without question the best buy offered University students in many years. Each Division page separating the various Schools of the University is a special work of art illustrating one of the highlights of Washington's life.

Subscriptions must be in the hands of the Business Manager before March 15. Fill out the subscription blank on page 2 of The Hatchet and either mail it to the Business Manager of the Cherry Tree or leave it at the office of the Bursar of the University.

Alpha Lambda Delta Has Pledge Service

Six Freshman Women Recognized in Tap Day Ceremony Wednesday

Alpha Lambda Delta held formal pledging services yesterday evening in Lambie House, six freshman women being recognized for high scholastic standing. The neophytes are: Betty Brown, Helen Lyon, Letha Scott, Helen Walters, Adele Meriam, and Jane Edwards.

The Alpha Lambda Delta Tap Day ceremony, which corresponds to informal pledging, took the place of the Freshman Assembly last Wednesday in Corcoran Hall 10. Helen Clarke, president of the George Washington chapter, and Elmer Louis Kayser, as speaker for the occasion, gave an interesting address.

Immediately following this active members of the sorority tapped those elected to the group, and they were presented with the flowers and colors of Alpha Lambda Delta. Jane Menefee played a piano accompaniment during the ceremony. Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, honorary member of the society, closed the assembly with a word of welcome to the pledges.

Gerhart Hoptmann Will Give Lecture

George Washington to Sponsor Address on Goethe by Well-known Poet

Gerhart Hoptmann, famous German dramatist who has come to the United States through the efforts of the Carnegie Foundation and Columbia University, will deliver a lecture on "Goethe" the well-known German poet, on March 8, at 8 o'clock in Constitution Hall. He will make only four lectures while in this country, at Columbia, Harvard, Johns Hopkins and George Washington.

Hoptmann won the Nobel prize in 1912, has received honorary degrees from many universities and will receive an honorary degree from Columbia University when he lectures there in March. Hoptmann was the head of the so-called naturalistic movement in German literature.

University Men Will Meet Dixie Orators

North Carolina, Duke, and Florida Included on Schedule

The men's debate team of George Washington University is going to Raleigh, to debate North Carolina State tomorrow evening, March 2, and to Durham to debate Duke University Thursday evening. The members of the George Washington team, Wilbur West and Archie Oram, will uphold the negative side of the question, "Resolved, That Congress should enact legislation providing for the centralized control of industry."

On Saturday night, March 5, DeWitt Bennett and Philip Merriman will uphold the affirmative side of the same question against the University of Florida. The debate will be held in Corcoran Hall 29 at 8 p. m. All three will be no-decision debates.

Society Discusses Historical Background of Shakespeare

At the last meeting of the Shakespeare Society held Thursday evening in Corcoran Hall 15, a discussion of Shakespeare's historical background was offered by Paul Bundy, one of the members of the club.

Dr. Frank Surface Talks on Economics

Commerce and Economics Fraternity Offers Speaker at Open Meeting

Dr. Frank M. Surface, head of all the domestic commerce activities of the U. S. Department of Commerce, will be the speaker at an open meeting of the G. W. Commerce and Economics Fraternity at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening, March 2, in room 17, Corcoran Hall. His subject will be "Merchandise Distribution."

"Dr. Surface's talk should be of interest to all economics students," said G. Douglas Taylor, fraternity president, in announcing the meeting. "One of the greatest business problems of this industrial age is the effort to bridge the gap between production and consumption."

The speaker is a graduate of Ohio State and the University of Pennsylvania. He was at one time connected with the Food Administration, the Versailles Peace Conference staff of experts, the U. S. Grain corporation and the Bureau of Census. Since 1927 he has supervised several national distribution surveys conducted by the Federal Government. This summer he will be a member of the special Bicentennial faculty of G. W. U.

Colonials Elect Zahn Captain of Basketball

End of Second Year Brings Merited Reward for Faithful Service

Arthur Zahn, popular Colonial basketball player and undeniably one of the most capable men on the varsity, has been elected captain of the 1932 George Washington University court team.

This is Zahn's second year as a varsity player, and in addition he served an apprenticeship on the freshman squad during his first year in the University.

Zahn plays a brilliantly steady game at guard, demonstrating unusual ability to capture the ball from his opponents, quickly dribble the length of the floor, and with a flick of the wrist flip the ball to some partner who is free to make a shot for the basket.

It is when all the members of his team are covered that Zahn exhibits some of his smartest tricks, driving opponents to consternation as the ball loops through the ring time and time again for welcome points for the home team.

One of two local men on the varsity, "Ott" Zahn came to G. W. from Eastern High School where he appeared in basketball games infrequently. In his freshman year at G. W. he began to earn a real name for his steady, dependable playing. Now this unassuming basketballer has deservedly been honored by his teammates for all-round excellence on the court.

Combined Glee Clubs Sing At Bicentennial Celebration

Combined Glee Clubs of the George Washington University sang several numbers at the recent opening of the Bicentennial celebration held in the Masonic Temple at Thirteenth Street and New York Avenue, Wednesday, February 24, under the auspices of the Harmony Lodge.

Baker Will Speak Before Art Appreciation Society

William F. Baker, former director of the Drama Guild of New York, will speak on stage settings at the meeting of the Art Appreciation Club on March 4 at 8 p. m. at the home of Harriet Garrels, 1615 Kenyon Street N. W.

Seniors Competing For Davis Prizes In Oratory Contest

Manuscripts Due March 26 and April 5 Date Set for Speeches

The Davis Prize Speaking Contest, sponsored annually by the Public Speaking Department of the University will this year be held on Tuesday, April 5. Manuscripts for the orations must be submitted at the public speaking department office on the third floor of building Q before Saturday, March 26.

The Davis prizes were founded in 1847 by Honorable Isaac Davis, of Massachusetts, and consist of three prizes amounting to $15, $10, and $5, respectively. The student may choose any subject and must write an original and persuasive oration and then deliver it at the contest. Speeches must be ten minutes in length and only seniors are eligible.

The orations have had a most remarkable history and many people prominent in the District today have competed for the prizes during the last 80-odd years. In the early days of the competition the contest was divided into two parts, one for men and one for women, because it was not thought fitting for women to appear upon the platform. Their contest was limited to essay writing and the prizes were awarded for the best written without regard for speaking ability.

Paul H. McMurray, now a graduate in Columbian College, won last year. He recently received his degree from the law school. Oscar B. Glick won the second prize and Robert E. Freer the third.

Dean William C. Van Vleck, of the law school, received an award in 1908 and Professor Elmer Louis Kayser was winner in 1917. Many others who have since become well known in the District were once winners of one of these prizes, including A. T. Stuart, winner in 1899, and well-known educator after whom a Washington junior high school was recently named.

Carolina 'Tarheels' Will Appear Here In College Cotillion

Popular Orchestra Engaged by Newly Organized Group for Affair at Press Club March 4

Jack Baxter and his famous Carolina Tarheels will play for a dance sponsored by the newly organized College Club of Washington. The Press Club has been selected as the most fitting setting for this major social event which will take place Friday, March 4, from ten 'til two. Tickets for the party may be secured from Joe Howard or Marshall Cook, or at the door until a capacity crowd is reached. The tariff is $2.50 per couple or $1.50 stag.

The Tarheels have recently played for the Panhellenic Dances at Randolph-Macon, the "midwinters" at South Carolina University and the University of Georgia. They will come to Washington direct from North Carolina University, home of the much touted eleven-piece musical organization, and will leave here on their annual northern tour which includes Fredericksburg Teacher's College, the Military Ball at the University of West Virginia.

Dean Van Vleck, Elmer Louis Kayser Recall Days of Prize-Winning Oratory

Announcement of the Davis Prize Speaking Contest made this week by the Public Speaking department calls to mind two former winners of the contest who are now famous on the campus. According to the records Dean William C. Van Vleck and Professor Elmer Louis Kayser, who are both well known faculty orators today, made their debut as speakers many years ago in this contest.

Back in 1908 Dean Van Vleck, then in Columbian College, entered the contest and won second prize. The Dean, when asked for a copy of his oration, remarked that 1908 was a long time ago and that a hunt through his important papers failed to reveal the famous document.

Professor Elmer Louis Kayser, winner in 1917, took better care of his speech and proudly brought it forth as an example of the type of oratory for which he used to be famous. His speech on "The Position of the Supreme Court in Our Constitutional System" is extremely uninteresting

Cue and Curtain Will Give Program of One-Act Plays

Cue and Curtain cordially invites all students in the University to a program of two one-act plays, to be presented in Corcoran Hall 10 on Wednesday, March 9 at 12 noon. There will be no admission charge.

Jane Rhoades and Phyllis Mills will take part in Molnar's "A Matter of Husbands," and the cast of "Etiquette" is composed of Adele Gusack and Newell Lusby. The plays are under the direction of Miss Constance Brown.

Freshmen Complete Hard Court Season

Record 13 Victories, 4 Losses;
Local Men Outstanding
on Team

The George Washington freshman basketball club completed a tough schedule this year, producing a brand of basketball that rivalled the great freshman team of a few years ago. This year's team won thirteen of the scheduled seventeen games played, losing the others by very small margins.

Two of the defeats were at the hands of the public high school winner, Eastern, one to the runner up, Tech, and the other to Central high by the small margin of 27-30. Such schools as Devitt, Emerson, Gonzaga, and Business, which always turn out good teams, were defeated by this year's five.

Having a choice of players from far and near, Coach "Len" Walsh chose an all-local team. Gleason, who is from Devitt, played a fine floor game the whole season as guard, being equalled only by Shirley, also a guard. The latter, who hails from Eastern, turned out to be the backbone of the entire team. Cool under strain, his very attitude accounted for the steadiness of the team when pushed.

Big "Bill" Noonan was the mainstay of the attack and offensive push. Noonan, also from Eastern, played a bang-up game, at his forward position the entire year. It must be remembered that this boy played center in high school, and consequently was unable to get started until late. Nevertheless, he was the high point scorer of the team.

Ox Wickham, the big boy from the southwest, became a great scoring threat from his center position. Few, if any, centers were ever able to get the tap-off over this tall boy.

"Hoggy" Albert played the true defensive game at guard, always guarding his man closely and seldom shooting the ball himself. Albert played about the best defensive game played on a District court this season, always breaking up the other teams' offensive before they could make any headway, and carrying with him the real fighting spirit of the team.

Dramatic Fraternity Establishes Trophy

Student With Highest Grade in Dramatic Studies to Receive Cup

Alpha Eta Epsilon, new national honorary dramatic fraternity, announces the establishment of a trophy to be awarded to the student at George Washington University who attains the highest grade in dramatic studies. The cup has been accepted by the Dramatic Department, which will make the award each year.

At the last social meeting of Alpha Eta Epsilon the guest speaker was Mrs. Jack Stearns Gray, well-known aviation enthusiast and author of the widely-heralded book, "Up."

Varsity Five Drops Three Tight Frays On Week-end Trip

Nosed Out by St. Joseph's, St. John's, and Rider as Season Comes to Close

Three gallant attempts were made by the George Washington basketball team to achieve victories while on the trip northward, last week-end, but each time it was successfully repulsed by St. Joseph's, 32-31, by St. John's, 40-37, and lastly by Rider to the count of 40-39.

Thursday evening the basketballers from G. W. U. ran rampant over the St. Joseph's quint with "Wick" Parrack, demon sharpshooter, leading his mates in the attack and before the Hawks realized the potency of the George Washington strategy a lead of 10 to 1 was attained. For the moment victory for our athletes seemed assured but the stamina and pugnacity of the St. Joseph's youths was not reckoned with and they began, slowly, to wipe out the lead established by the Colonials.

Again on Friday evening, the Buff and Blue courtmen ran up a lead of 22 points to their adversaries, St. John's of Brooklyn, N. Y., 14 points. And again did "Wick" Parrack, together with "Otis" Zahn and Wayne Chambers, figure in the merciless assault on the Brooklyn lads.

However, midway through the last half, George Washington, maintaining a five-point lead, was suddenly dazzled by the brilliant shooting of Captain Tom Neary of St. John's who tossed the ball through the hoop three times in quick succession, thereby attaining the lead for his quint by a score of 27-28. Led by their redoubtable captain the St. John's basketballers never once during the rest of the fracas relinquished their advantage and at the final whistle the score stood 40 to 37 in favor of St. John's.

George Washington, in a thrilling contest on Saturday night, made its best bid for victory against Rider College, but in the last moments of the fray failed to make the crucial shot. The invaders from Washington, led by the indomitable Parrack, cut the 4-point lead held by Rider and almost had the game in their hands during the last five minutes, but failed to count on baskets that would have meant victory.

Colonial Swimmers Score Second Win

Conquer Duke Natators 47-28;
Frosh Lose to Blue Devils
47-19

Swimming against the Duke University Saturday evening at the Ambassador Pool the Colonials scored a decisive victory by winning first place in all except two events, the final count being 47 to 28.

Captain Rote again led the field in the number of points gained by individuals, with Heslop and Garrett following. Rote won both the 100-yard back stroke and the 100-yard free style swims, and swam the anchor legs in both the 200-yard free style relay and the 150-yard medley relay.

A strong "Blue Devil" freshman swimming squad, replete with former District High School luminaries, scored a 47 to 19 victory over a fighting G. W. freshman team Saturday afternoon.

The only Colonial Cub to score a first place was John Hain in the 100-yard backstroke. A new pool record was made by Tennant, Duke breast-stroker, with Everett, of G. W., placing second.

In a meet held on February 23, at the Ambassador Pool, the Colonials lost to the University of Virginia mermen, the final score being 44 to 22. Coach Lyman's squad was handicapped by the absence of two of his first string men.

Philippinean Club Elects John G. Barbers President

John G. Barbers was elected president of the Philippinean Club of George Washington University for the second semester at a meeting held in Corcoran Hall, Friday evening, February 26. Barbers served as secretary of the club during the first semester of 1929.

President Barbers will appoint the heads of the different committees at the next meeting of the club which will be held Friday, March 4, at 8 p. m. in Corcoran Hall 17. All members should attend.

Achievement

The Colonials' most successful basketball season in years was brought to a close last Saturday night. True, they suffered three heartbreaking last minute defeats on the tour which wound up the season, the combined odds of first-class opposition and a schedule on which games were too sparsely distributed proving too strong.

Notwithstanding all this the team will be remembered for its brilliant successes, which drew much surprised attention in local sports circles and thoroughly justified all the faith its supporters lavished on it. We have been clamoring for an outstanding team. The 1932 Varsity Five is the answer.

A Suggestion

The building between the tennis court and the old building Y, which formerly housed the publications offices of the University, was recently acquired by the administration. The ground occupied by the new acquisition and the old building Y combined, would provide ample room for a second tennis court adjoining the present single court.

Popularity of the one G. W. court has been proved by demand—it is constantly in use when conditions permit. It provides almost the only recreational facility which can be employed by the students. Twenty courts, if we had the space, would not be too many.

This suggestion may not be a practical one from the standpoint of the administration, but it is given for what it may be worth.

An Opportunity

The Public Speaking Department has announced the Davis Prize Speaking Contest, which has been held annually at the University since 1847 to select the prize orator of the senior class.

The educational values of such events as this contest are many. Cultivation of the art of public speaking, an art which until the past few years was sadly neglected, is valuable training. Too much formal instruction, and no practical training for life is not the ideal education, and a realization of this has led, among other things, to a rapidly growing interest in public speaking. In the practice of this art one acquires a detailed knowledge of particular subjects, and there is a cultivation of feeling, and concentration of thought, which keeps the mind healthily active. The ability to state a clear-cut proposition, and to analyze it keenly by sifting the essential from the trivial, is exceedingly important.

The man who is expert in the art of oral communication is always in demand. One who can properly employ the art holds a great advantage over the one who must pathetically flounder around in futile attempt to reduce his thoughts to a clear-cut speech.

It is interesting to note that two of our most capable faculty members were, during their matriculation at the University, awarded this same Davis prize. Give your full attention to the facts published in this issue concerning the contest, and make use of the opportunity which is afforded.

Liberty, equality, and no prom flowers is the male slogan for this year's campaign, according to C. Manley Zilch, local president of this movement which is now international in scope, since the Diamondback of Maryland University has taken up the cry.

The idea of putting in that extra tennis court for the benefit of evening students who wish to "grawk" will, no doubt, relieve the congestion along the fence, but it will also give Kitty Birch some competition of which she might not approve.

With mother's curtains whipping the breeze, Orchestra will do a little midwinter fighting this month. We suggest that they interpret the dear's dismay when he finds that his class has walked out after a mere ten-minute wait, or a coed's hurt expression when ten minutes of going fails to bring forth a prom corsage.

The Mystery Club—and not the History Club—heard Dr. Wilgus speak last week, according to the Hatchet. Taking some of those Hispanic American Government grades into consideration, the aforementioned speech was probably a mystery to all those present.

Maryland U. has checkmated our campus one-eyed Connolly's who swamped the Sophomore Prom by scheduling their Junior Prom for the same night as our Interfraternity racket. Who's the guy who called those lads farmers?

Free for nothin'—two plays put on by our campus talent. Now that is an event to get excited over. As "Kroom" Bagranoff is crooning at the Belasco this week, we don't believe there will be any "Happy Landings" this time—if you get what we mean.

Colonial Five's Record Merits Unqualified Praise

Buff and Blue Quintet Captures Eleven Victories; Team's Trips North Marred by Four Defeats

George Washington Team Victorious in All Contests On Home Floor; Ten Straight Triumphs Mark Outfit As Superlative One

George Washington University's basketball team completed its schedule Saturday night with a record of eleven victories and four defeats, a total that marks the team as the best ever to represent the University.

Although closing the campaign with a rather disheartening northern trip in which they lost three games in succession, the Colonials won every game on the home floor. Chalking up ten victories in a row before tasting defeat, it was the strongest team in this section on the home battlefield.

Opening the season with a 44-27 victory over Shenandoah, the G. W. men mowed down the Marines in their second encounter 39-27, in a fast, exciting battle of giants in the H Street gym. Five days later in a return contest at Quantico the Colonials turned in a decisive 59-31 victory over the Devil Dogs.

St. Josephs and Villanova from Philadelphia were the next opponents in the Colonial gym, initiating a four game siege of George Washington by the ranking teams in the country and reaching the peak of the schedule for home contests. On successive nights the Colonials downed St. Josephs and Villanova 43-25 and 38-26 respectively.

Triumph Over Duquesne
Continuing their streak the Varsity triumphed over the unbeaten Duquesne five 48-27 in a game well played from start to finish.

DePaul came from Chicago with an impressive record, including victories over Southern California and Notre Dame to threaten the Colonials unbeaten record.

This team, offering a short-passing attack, played the Colonials to a standstill, holding a 13-12 advantage at half-time.

The second half was a different story. Coach Pixlee's men starting with a rush gained the lead, stopped the visitors' attack cold for five minutes, and eked out a 35-28 victory.

After an easy 50-23 victory over Lynchburg, the Colonials defeated a team from William and Mary five by the score margin of 37-35 at Williamsburg.

Baltimore University was the next victim, being bowled over by a 72-21 count as the Colonials prepped for their final tests of the season. Meeting Duquesne at Pittsburgh was quite different from meeting them at Washington, G. W. men will agree. The Dukers stunned local sportsmen with

Varsity Marksmen Add Two Victories

Split Even in League Matches; Win Shoulder-to-Shoulder Contest

As a result of three matches shot during the past two weeks the Colonial marksmen have added to their credit two victories over Johns Hopkins and Maryland University, while dropping one close decision to the latter. Two were league matches, in which they broke even, while the third was a challenge shoot. Their next contest, a telegraphic league match, is scheduled with Navy this week-end.

Their latest triumph was registered over the Old Liners in a shoulder to shoulder shoot Saturday on the Marylander's range, which avenged the loss suffered the previous night. John Brightenburgh led his mates to a 1375 to 1315 victory, with a score of 281, while Beachako did some splendid shooting to hang up a 273 total. Robertson and Fisk tied for top honors among the Terrapins with 270 points each.

In a telegraphic match on Friday, February 26, Maryland barely defeated the Hatchettes, 1369 to 1359, but unfortunately the verdict affected the league standing of the Colonials. Captain Barr led George Washington with a total of 282 points.

The victory march of Acacia in League A and Sigma Phi Epsilon in League B found little opposition in the way as they emerged victorious in the third round matches of the Interfraternity Bowling Series at the Columbia Bowling Alleys last Saturday night. The Masons won two of the three games in their all-important match with Theta Delta pinmen and the Sig Eps rolled superior ball by taking all three games in an easy match with the cellar champs, Sigma Mu Sigma.

After winning the first game from Acacia, the Theta Deltas lost a heart-breaking second game to the Masons by the score of 454 to 453. "Doc" Summers, slim Acacian, rolled the high game of the evening with a 122 score in the first game. The Acacians also rolled the highest game of the evening with a 586 score. By virtue of this victory Acacia now leads League A.
